

Achieve Web Marketing Success: Time Wasters to Avoid Like the Plague!

Contributed by Webmaster
Monday, 23 February 2009
Last Updated Monday, 23 February 2009

By MomsAreSuccessful.com

If you're a fan of online marketing congratulations, there really is nothing like the internet to help you help your business and reach your goals much quicker.

However, if you're going to devote several hours every day on internet consulting you will absolutely want to keep an eye out for these time wasters so that you're making the most of your time online.

Time Waster: Browsing videos

I love video marketing and I highly, highly recommend it for anyone who is involved in a home based business. Here is a video marketing secret for you: do not get sucked into checking out videos online instead of actually making your own. I don't doubt that every single internet marketer has been guilty of this at least once or twice. You're on YouTube, or Revver or any other free video site and you see one video that catches your interest. Then a different video pops up and you watch that one then another and then another

I know looking at videos is cool but it will grow your business so get in, upload and edit your videos and get out.

Time Waster: Chatting on forums

Marketing on forums is another great strategy to get people interested in your business or product. Just do not spend the majority of your day chatting on forums when you could be doing other forms of marketing. Trust me it is convenient to allow time get away from you when on a forum. Try setting a timer or an alarm for 20 or 30 minutes and only letting yourself that much time a day to market on forums. This will stop you from talking on forums all day and allow you to get more taken care of.

Time Waster: Spending too much time on a blog

Look, you are not writing for the New York Times. Do not take a long time trying to think of the perfect blog post. I am suggesting that bloggers just keep it simple and never spend more than 10 - 15 minutes a day updating your blog. It doesn't have to be perfect!

Time Waster: Tips for Organizing Your Office

It is good to be organized but let's be honest, organizing your home office or your desktop on your computer can hardly be called online marketing. Try getting all that out of the way beforehand and spend your marketing time doing just that marketing. A prospect doesn't care if your file cabinet is neat and tidy.

Steer clear from these easy to avoid time wasters and you can get the most out of your marketing time and best of all success will be right around the corner!

Daphne Carraway is part of a successful team of internet marketers. Find out how you can be prosperous with our fantastic Christian Marketing System available practically FREE. Visit MomsAreSuccessful.com Right away!

Internet Marketing

{mos_sb_discuss:2}